Lutherans Celebrate Centennial of Founder of Missouri Synod.

MEETING AT WASHINGTON HALL

McCabe Methodist Church Holds Services at Homes of Members—Daily Day Services in Several Churches.

The centennial of the birthday of Dr. C. F. W. Walther, one of the founders of the Lutheran Missouri synod, will be observed by many Omaha Lutheran churches, and will be celebrated generally by Lutheran churches in the United States, Canada, and foreign countries.

Dr. Walther, who has been called the Luther of America, was born on October 25, 1811, in Saxony, Germany, and went to Perry county, Missouri, in 1839. In the same year a theological seminary was established there, the students and the professor themselves felling the trees for the log house that was to be the home of the school, until it was transferred to St. Louis, in 1850.

In the same year a theological seminary was established there, the students and the professor themselves felling the trees for the log house that was to be the home of the school, until it was transferred to St. Louis, in 1850.

The Missouri synod now numbers more than 2,000 pastors and more than 1,000 male teachers, and maintains two theological, two normal seminaries, ten colleges, and many missions in Europe, South America and India.

Lutheran churches of Omaha will unite in celebrating the centennial at Washington hall, at 2:30 in the afternoon. Director G. Weller of the Teachers' seminary at Seward will speak in German, and Rev. Thomas Hartman of Louisville, in English. A chorus will render selections in both languages.

Homes of members of the McCabe Methodist church, Fortieth and Farnam streets, will be converted into Sunday school houses Sunday, and the pastor's home will become a church Wednesday evening. The church is undergoing repairs and worship in it hardly would be pleasant Sunday. The teachers will receive their classes in their own homes at 10 o'clock.

There will be no preaching services or young people's meetings, but the regular Wednesday evening prayer meeting will be in the pastor's home.

Rev. James A. Jenkins will discuss "Biblical Criticism and Philosophical Freedom" at the meeting of the Omaha Philosophical society at Barlight hall, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The public is invited to hear what a minister thinks of the relations between the Bible and science.

Rallies will be held in several Omaha churches Sunday. At the Diets Memorial Methodist church the Sunday school will hold a rally in the main auditorium at 2:30. All members of the church have been asked to attend. There will be recitations, music and addresses.

At Grace Lutheran church every service will be a rally for the persons who attend, the church congregation, the Sunday school and the Young People's society having special programs.

Major General Edward Fielding of Chicago of the Volunteers of America, who has been here attending the American Prison congress, will remain over Sunday and will speak at the Volunteer hall, 11 North Fifteenth street, Sunday evening, Dr. E. A. Van Fleet of Omaha will sing the tenor solo from "The Prodigal Son."

The Brotherhood conference of the United Presbyterian presbytery of Omaha to be held at the Central United Presbyterian church, Twenty-fourth and Dodge streets, October 22 and 23, is one of a series of important conferences for men, being conducted in some thirty centers of the church.

The leaders in the work are G. E. Raitt, national secretary of the United Presbyterian brotherhood; George Innes, assistant secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions, and Rev. H. C. Chambers, missionary from India. The trip covers about 8,000 miles through nine synods. The object is to discuss the problems, needs and opportunities of men's work.

Debate among Rev. Frank A. Case of Council Bluffs, Charles A. Allen, and Rev. Charles W. Briggs of Omaha on the question of introducing the Bible into the public schools will be the feature of the quarterly rally of the Tri-City Baraca union, to be held in the First Methodist church Monday evening. The program will be as follows:

Fifteen Minute Song Service.

Wrinkles and Double Chin Driven Away by Heating Process.

(Perfect Health.)

During a recent medical convention a certain famous physician was asked to define "life" in a word. "Heat," was his reply. It has lately been discovered that the chief cause of wrinkles, double chin, enlarged pores, etc., is the lack of heat-energy in the flesh. The flesh as well as the skin becomes lazy and sluggish. Any amount of patent medicines, creams, lotions, etc., are unable to supply the proper nourishment and vitalizing heat.

The only known corrective in the old-fashioned thermoid jelly. Just get an ounce and a half from your druggist and rub half a teaspoonful into the face, after which bathe the face with very cold water. The jelly heats and feeds the tissues, and the cold water applied afterward stimulates the circulation. After even one application the flesh and skin feel wonderfully invigorated. The thermoid jelly starts at once to repair and restore the fibrous tissue beneath the skin to its youthful, healthy, smooth condition.

TAFT BRAVES TRUSTS' ANGER

Prosecutions Must Go on Despite All Opposition.

ENCOUNTERS LOW TEMPERATURE

President Takes Hide from Sheridan to Fort McKeanie and Finds Buffalo Robes and Overcoat Comfortable.

NEW CASTLE, Wyo., Oct. 21.—President Taft again made it clear in a speech here last night that it was his intention to enforce the Sherman anti-trust act no matter how much offending combinations squeal for mercy.

"The supreme court," said Mr. Taft, "has rendered two decisions, one against the Standard Oil company, requiring it to be broken up and disintegrated into parts, and the other against the American Tobacco company. There are other companies that are charged in this same way, some of them are coming in voluntarily to divide themselves up, and just as we are about to reach a proper and successful administration of the law, we begin to find that there are some people that object to the administration because of the fact that we are prosecuting those trusts and we are enforcing the law."

"It is a case where the administration is going to be damned if it doesn't and damned if it does. Our understanding when the president lifted his hand and swore to defend the constitution and enforce the law, it meant something, and when there was a law upon the statute books for twenty years to suppress these combinations against interstate trade, to monopolize and to interfere with that trade and to control prices, that it was his business and the business of all under his law to enforce the law, and that is what we are doing, and that is what we propose to do, no matter whether we be damned or not."

Prosecution Must Go On. "The prosecution of these great combinations that have been engaged in trying to prevent competition must go on until either the law is repealed or the law is enforced that no combinations shall exist which shall be able to prevent competition and establish a monopoly, and that is the policy which the administration has adopted and one it intends to carry through."

The president spoke to only a few hundred persons. New Castle is the smallest town in which he has stopped since than a few minutes on his present trip, having a population of not quite 1,000. The president spent the day traveling in northern Wyoming. He started at Sheridan in the morning with the thermometer down around 25 and stopped for the night in New Castle. Not much improvement in the temperature was noted. For hour after hour today the president's train passed through country half covered with snow and at times the clouds overhead discharged snow enough to make a blizzard look imminent. Mr. Taft's speech here was begun just as snow began to fall. It was not a heavy fall, but it came fast.

At Sheridan the president was taken for a three-mile ride to Fort McKeanie. It was cold enough to make buffalo robes and heavy overcoats comfortable, and Mr. Taft stopped for a few minutes in post headquarters to get warm. He spoke there in the tabernacle under canvas to several thousand persons on police and arbitration.

Actresses Learn How to Keep Young

(Theatrical Bulletin.)

If our bread and butter depended in a large measure upon our good looks perhaps we women on this side of the footlights would use the same common-sense methods in caring for our complexions as actors and actresses who wear the complexion of stage folk are subjected to much greater abuse, yet they overcome the evils of paint make-up, irregular hours, etc., in the following manner. Among the possibilities of a good skin is the use of a good skin cream. Just get an ounce and a half of your druggist, and after a good scrub with warm water at night, apply it to your face. It begins its work at once, and its cleansing and beautifying effect is marvellous.
